Rutherford (with Hermés and Helena in NYC July 6) estimates she has visited her kids in Monaco more than 70 times.

KELLY RUTHERFORD
A MOTHER'S DESPAIR

Kelly Rutherford has suffered another crushing blow in her six-year battle for her kids. A California judge ruled July 23 that the state has no jurisdiction in the Gossip Girl actress' fight against ex-husband Daniel Giersch, 41, for sole custody of son Hermés, 8, and daughter Helena, 6. (Although the parents technically share legal custody, the kids were sent to Monaco to live with their German businessman father in 2012 after his U.S. visa was revoked.) "If [they] have any connection to California, it is tenuous at best," Judge Mark Juhas, who previously ruled to let the kids spend the summer in New York with their mom, wrote in his decision. As it stands, Hermés and Helena will be forced to return to Monaco at the end of the summer. An emotional Rutherford, 46, who resides both in NYC and California, expressed her frustration: "I can only see this as a legal kidnapping by a California judge."

NOT GIVING UP Now, the ball is back in New York family court. After the ruling, Rutherford filed for custody with the state, hoping for a more favorable outcome. "[California's decision] opens the door to New York courts finally having an opportunity to do the right thing," her attorney Wendy Murphy told Us in a statement. "Hopefully, [this] will be the beginning of the end of the children's forced exile — once and for all."

Giersch and Rutherford divorced in 2010 after four years of marriage.

JAKE GYLLENHAAL

Mighty Mistake?

Fowl play! As a kid, Jake Gyllenhaal's parents made him turn down a role in the 1992 hockey comedy The Mighty Ducks — and the actor, 34, still gives a puck. "I definitely remember crying on the kitchen counter," he told Howard Stern July 23. "But my parents were like . . . 'You gotta get your education.'" The role ultimately went to Joshua Jackson, but Gyllenhaal insists it's cool. He added, "Movie stuff is meant more for adults."

"It can mess you up," Gyllenhaal says of childhood fame.

"We went over a lot of hurdles to conceive," Buruss (with Tucker) tells Us.

REAL BABY JOY!

Peachy news: The Real Housewives of Atlanta star Kandi Burruss is expecting her first child with husband Todd Tucker, 41. "It's a dream come true," says Burruss, 39. The reveal comes three months after the couple, who married last year, spoke out about using in vitro fertilization. The new addition will join Burress' Riley and Tucker's Kaela, their daughters from previous relationships. Says Tucker, "[They] couldn't be happier about becoming big sisters."

Avril Lavigne

25 Things You Don't Know About Me

The Canadian singer, 30, fills Us in

Lavigne sponsors 30 athletes in the Special Olympics, airing on ESPN through August 2.

1. I've dyed my hair almost every color of the rainbow at some point.
2. I moved to France by myself, not knowing anyone, to study French in 2012.
3. In addition to singing, I play guitar, drums, piano and bass.
4. I hosted more than 200 Special Olympics athletes from 14 countries at shows during my last world tour.
5. I began the Avril Lavigne Foundation in 2010. My goal is to bring joy, support and unity to those in need.

STILL LIFE: SHUTTERSTOCK (5)

6. I want a teacup dog one day soon.

7. I'm an art lover and enjoy painting.
8. I have a recording studio in my home.
9. My diet is sugar-free, yeast-free, dairy-free, gluten-free and all organic.

10. My favorite "cheat day" food is a Canadian dish called poutine. It's melted curd cheese on french fries with gravy.

11. Christmas is my favorite time of year, and Christmas music is my favorite music.
12. My older brother, Matt, is my idol.
13. I enjoy chick flicks and romantic comedies.
14. I recently opened up about my Lyme disease diagnosis, which came from an insect bite.
15. I have a French passport.

16. I love yoga and meditation.

17. I have a pizza named after me! La Pizzeria in my hometown of Napanee, Ontario, is my favorite, and I get free pizza there for life!
18. I love to cook gourmet dishes.

19. My favorite place to travel is Japan.

20. After music, art, acting and fashion design are my passions.
21. I want to move to Italy. I feel dreamy and happy there. I want to eat, drink wine and make incredible memories there in my future.

22. I would love to meet Will Ferrell.

23. I recently released a single, "Fly," to support the Special Olympics.
24. The town I grew up in had a population of 5,000 people.
25. My next goal in life is moviemaking! I want to act in a Christmas movie, horror film, comedy and more.

Trump's PRESIDENTIAL PLAYBOOK

Donald's winning strategy ain't exactly politics as usual

ADVISE YOURSELF!

No foreign-policy expert? No prob! Per The New York Times, the Republican candidate, 69, reads newspapers to bone up on global affairs. Speechwriters are superfluous too: Donald Trump (right) prefers to wing his talks.

PLAY DIRTY

INSULT EVERYONE

Sneer campaign! Trump has said that Hillary Clinton is "sad"; Senator John McCain (far right), a former POW, is "not a war hero"; and former Texas governor Rick Perry (right) wears glasses "so people will think he's smart."

HAVE YOUR KIDS PRAISE YOU

After the McCain slam, his three eldest kids (and Celebrity Apprentice costars) Donald Jr., 37, Ivanka, 33 (left), and Eric, 31, came to his defense. Words from their joint statement: "He's an incredible dad and role model."

BRAG ABOUT YOUR WEALTH

Populist politician? Please. In a July 15 press release about his financial disclosure report, the real estate mogul claimed that his net worth is "in excess of TEN BILLION DOLLARS." He's not just rich — he's all-caps rich.

DODGE DRUG LORDS

Trump, who called Mexican immigrants "rapists," beefed up security after he received a threat purportedly from cartel boss Joaquin "El Chapo" Guzman (left). "We have officials all over," Trump said July 14, "including . . . in trees."

WHAT'S IN MY BAG?

Southern charm! Andie MacDowell, 57, talks Us through her packed tote

For Andie MacDowell, who frequently shuttles between her home base in Los Angeles and the set of Hallmark's Cedar Cove (Saturdays at 8 P.M.) in Vancouver, British Columbia, organization is essential. "I feel better when everything is in place," the mom of Justin, 29, Rainey, 25, and Margaret, 19 (with model ex Paul Qualley), tells Us. The South Carolina–born actress empties her Valentino sack for Us.

SIP, SIP, HOORAY

"I'm a big tea drinker. I drink Choice Organic's Mental Focus herbal tea when I have to remember a lot of lines."

IN THE CLEAR

"I don't have a wallet right now. I've just been putting my credit cards and Pinkberry card inside a plastic bag. When I'm home, I probably go to Pinkberry too much!"

FLOWER POWER

"I really love the smell of roses. I have Aura Cacia's Panic Button aromatherapy oil that has rose extract in it. And the perfume I'm using at the moment is Roses de Chloé."

FORGET THE FORK

"I have a pair of chopsticks with me right now because I like eating anything with them."

LOOK BOOK

"I just started reading The Theory of Everything by Stephen Hawking on my iPad because I was curious. I also carry reading glasses — I'm blind as a bat otherwise!"

Not Giving Up on Scott

The mom of three weighs a reconciliation with Disick

Kourtney Kardashian has hope for a change. Though she dumped Scott Disick on the July 4 weekend when photos surfaced of him groping an ex, a source says she's regretting her actions: "She wants Scott back." Specifically, a sober Scott, the source says, and Kardashian, 36, is playing hardball by seeking sole custody of their kids, Mason, 5, Penelope, 3, and Reign, 7 months. "She hopes this will scare him enough to get help," the insider says of the professional partier, 32. "If he gets to the point where he is really changing," she'll let him come home. Over nine years she's forgiven his binge-drinking and questionable behavior with other women, but the source notes one difference this time: "She's shocked he isn't begging her to take him back."

"I need to be positive," Disick said at Las Vegas' 1 Oak Nightclub July 24.

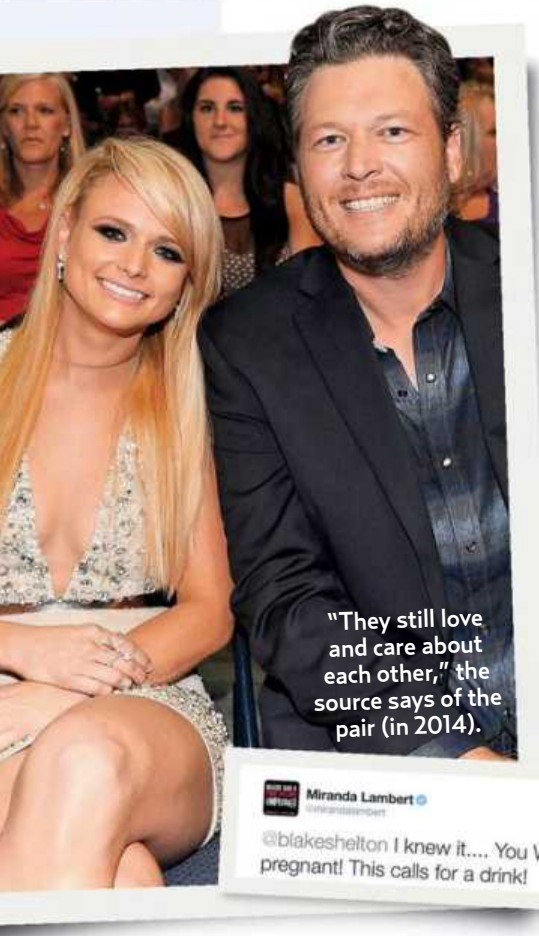

"Kourtney wants Scott to be involved in their kids' lives," says a source close to Kardashian (July 3).

Hot mama! Britney Spears debuts her total body makeover

BY ASHLEY SPENCER

Aloha, abs! Britney Spears wore an itsy-bitsy teeny-weeny purple polka-dot bikini — and showed off her toned physique — in Kauai July 24. "She's been working hard to look good," says a source of the 33-year-old singer, who was vacationing on the Hawaiian island with sons Preston, 9, and Jayden, 8. "She's single and feeling confident and happy."

FITNESS FIRST

A breakup does a body good. Since her June split from producer Charlie Ebersol, the 5-foot-4 Grammy winner has been focusing on fitness with at-home yoga and her dance-heavy Britney: Piece of Me residency show at Las Vegas' Planet Hollywood Resort. "She's constantly burning everything off!" says a pal. And when on break in L.A., she hits Drenched Fitness' high-intensity interval-training class. "I think she's drawn to it because it's a tough workout," creator Julie Kennington tells Us. "It's cardio, as well as strength-training."

Though the Louisiana-bred star admits to a weakness for potato chips and sweet tea, she gears up for workouts with egg whites and wheat toast and says she tries to snack on "any kind of fruit, especially peaches." The results are sweet. "She has muscle, and she's strong," adds the source. "This is the best she's looked in a while." US

"She still eats fast food," a source says of Spears (last June near L.A.).

"Namaste," Spears captioned her yoga pose on Instagram July 9.

"She doesn't starve herself," a source says of Spears (in Kauai July 24). "She's more about working out."

DATING THE NANNY

So close to home: Jennifer Garner and Ben Affleck's sitter tells friends she's in love with him

BY SARAH GROSSBART

It was a piece of gossip too juicy not to share. Seated at the glass-top bar in Santa Monica steakhouse Boa July 14, a pretty, blonde twentysomething told her friends all about her latest love interest. He's tall, dark and handsome, she said, and he happens to be a two-time Oscar winner going through a messy divorce. Once she let it slip that she was dating none other than Ben Affleck, the beauty couldn't stop gushing about him. "She was saying he was really cool and humble and chill," says a fellow diner. "She was like a giddy high school girl who's sleeping with the quarterback — and no one else knows."

The secret is out now. Us can exclusively confirm that Affleck's new flame is 28-year-old California native Christine Ouzounian — a woman he and estranged wife Jennifer Garner hired as a nanny for their three kids this spring. Weeks into the gig caring for Violet, 9, Seraphina, 6, and Samuel, 3, Ouzounian and the actor, 42, developed an attraction, a source tells Us. "They would hang out without the kids," explains the source. "And they were very flirty." (A rep for Affleck tells Us "all allegations of a romantic relationship are baseless and untrue." Ouzounian couldn't be reached for comment.) Then in the midst of a secret 10-month separation, Affleck and Garner, 43, had yet to announce the end of their 10-year marriage. When they did June 30, Ouzounian was there for Affleck. Literally. That was her in the Bahamas with Affleck and Garner and their kids during their post-breakup vacation. But her time in paradise was cut short when Garner saw something that confirmed her long-held suspicions Ouzounian was more interested in Affleck than she was in babysitting. Says a Garner insider, "She sent both Ben and the nanny home."

LATE NIGHT AT BEN'S

On July 17, Ouzounian, driving Affleck's Lexus, keyed in the security code to his L.A. pad (left). "He was clearly happy to see her," says an eyewitness of the actor (center), who accepted a bottle of champagne.

Though Ouzounian lost a job, the source says she felt she gained a potential long-term boyfriend. Affleck continued to pursue her, says the source, with texts, emails and carefully arranged meet-ups. Throughout his time in Atlanta, where his kids are living with Garner while she films Miracles From Heaven, the Batman v Superman: Dawn of Justice star has found ample opportunities to fly back to L.A. Ouzounian was seen July 14 at the Hotel Bel-Air — the five-star Los Angeles resort Affleck had used as a home away from home in the final days of his marriage. On July 17 she even made a late-night visit to his L.A.-area rental, spending two hours with her former boss. "She says Ben really, really likes her," says an Ouzounian pal. "They've even talked about living together. She's saying this is true love."

Affleck and Garner had a tense moment July 3 in the Bahamas.

AN INNOCENT BEGINNING

When Ouzounian arrived at Garner and Affleck's $17.5 million spread in L.A.'s Pacific Palisades this spring to join their staff of nannies, it was just another gig. An employee at a high-end Beverly Hills nanny agency that boasts about representing "professionals of the highest caliber," her initial impression was "that Ben and Jen were both cool," says the pal. "She liked Jen." But she really liked Affleck. Soon, the A-list actor-director and the Arizona State University communications grad were finding excuses to spend time alone without the kids. "They'd go grab food or something," says the pal. "They were always laughing and having fun."

That spring, Garner was flying back and forth from Montreal to film her comedy Nine Lives. Yet she was around enough to take notice of Affleck and the nanny's lingering glances. Used to keeping a close watch on Affleck, the actress grew suspicious, says the Ouzounian pal.

HE'S HAVING A RUFF TIME

Now who's in the doghouse? Affleck arrived in Atlanta July 20 via a private jet carrying precious cargo: a golden retriever puppy the kids had adopted in L.A. "Ben knows he has let the family down," explains an insider close to Affleck and Garner. "It's a way to show the kids how much he loves them." With custody still to be determined, according to a source, Affleck is taking every opportunity to shine as Mr. Mom. On July 25, he spent the day at Atlanta's Ice Cream Festival with Garner and their three kids, posing for family photos and getting a temporary tattoo with son Sam. The next day, he and Violet stopped by a pet store to buy supplies for the new arrival. "Violet chose chew toys," says an onlooker. "Ben was sweet with her."

Affleck (July 20 in Atlanta) adopted the rescue dog with the girls.

Garner wasn't concerned enough to fire Ouzounian, but she began lashing out in subtle ways, says the pal: "She'd be like, 'Oh, why don't you ride in the back?' Or, 'Go fold the kids' clothes.'" And then there were the more overt measures. The pal says Garner filled out a poor performance evaluation with Ouzounian's agency: "She said she wanted her to spend less time with Ben and focus more on the kids."

But being on the receiving end of Garner's ire only drove Ouzounian closer to Affleck. For months, the actor had been navigating his own frosty relationship with his estranged wife. "They would be so passive-aggressive and dismissive of each other," says an Affleck insider of the duo's interactions. "At one point, Jen left to go work out and Ben actually sighed with relief." Having a shared enemy in Garner only strengthened Affleck's bond with the ex–sorority girl. "Ben started defending Christine," says the Ouzounian pal. After each of the nanny's tense run-ins with Garner, Affleck "would pull her aside to talk and build up her self-esteem," says the friend. "He became even more involved with Christine. And that's when stuff started happening."

The budding twosome began to hit relationship milestones. The Ouzounian pal says they shared their first kiss after Garner turned in her harsh evaluation. And their first couples' getaway came just days before Garner and Affleck officially announced their split. When gambling buff Affleck was invited to a Las Vegas poker tournament the weekend of June 26, he arrived with Ouzounian as his plus-one. (An Affleck source insists she went as part of a group to help with a charity auction.) Says another insider of the weekend, "It was a romantic trip."

JEN FINDS OUT

All the while, Ouzounian remained on Affleck's payroll. Though Garner had her doubts about the Santa Monica–bred stunner, she trusted her enough to have her join the family on her 4th of July getaway to the Bahamas. The trip had been arranged as a way to keep the kids out of the spotlight when news of the divorce broke and, says a source, "Jen asked Christine to come along." It was there, on the scenic island of Great Guana Cay, while Ouzounian was watching over Violet, Seraphina and Samuel, that Garner learned her lingering suspicions about Affleck and the nanny were true. "Everything came to light," says the Garner source. And Garner saw red. Following a fight with Affleck, she forced him back to their L.A. spread. The glum-looking actor was seen boating to the mainland July 3. His girlfriend was sent further adrift, says the source: "Jen fired her." (The Affleck source says she "voluntarily" quit her position because there were "too many employees.")

Affleck did his best to help Ouzounian out — even penning a reference that her friend dubbed "a love letter." Recalls the pal, "It said she had the most loving personality and she was so great with the kids. Trust was brought up too." But the note didn't fly with Garner. "She had her people edit it down," says the friend. "It ended up saying she was a subcontracted employee and she did these duties."

Ouzounian's time with Affleck was far from over. The dad was focused on being with his kids in Atlanta, yet he took pains to make sure Ouzounian's life was going smoothly as well. He gave her the keys to his three cars for her to use (her ride of choice: his Lexus sedan) and kept in constant touch via email and text, says the Ouzounian pal. When he could get away, he'd hop a jet to L.A. for some face time. On July 17, the duo arranged a get-together at the house he's renting from Brooke Shields — conveniently located down the street from the 3-acre spread he shared with Garner.

> A GARNER SOURCE

Shortly after 10 P.M., an onlooker spotted Ouzounian pulling Affleck's Lexus up to the five-bedroom pad. After expertly keying in his gate code, she stepped out of the car bearing a bottle of champagne. "Ben walked out just as she was pulling in," says the onlooker. "He had a giant smile on his face. They were gazing into each other's eyes."

To Ouzounian it was the look of love. The pal says Ouzounian admitted they've shared those three little words. "She says he sends her texts and emails saying that he loves her," says the friend. "And she's definitely in love with him." According to the nanny, Affleck has even floated the idea of them living together, says the friend: "It's crazy, but she says they're talking about cohabiting."

IN FOR THE LONG HAUL?

Still, the friend cautions Affleck hasn't committed to househunting just yet. The morning after their two-hour date at his rented house, he told Ouzounian he wasn't ready to announce their relationship. Instead of getting cold feet, says the friend, he explained that he's worried about her privacy. "He's telling her she's so sweet, he doesn't want to see her torn apart in the public eye," explains the friend, noting that the actor dispensed his assistant to her house to pick up the keys to his car July 18. "He was saying they need to be more careful and he doesn't want her to get hurt."

A rebuffed Ouzounian has taken to playing hard to get, says the friend: "She's pulling away a little bit." But she can't bring herself to give up on the relationship entirely. "They're still talking to each other," reveals the pal, who says Ouzounian was even wearing one of Affleck's cashmere sweaters on a recent outing. "She's trying to be realistic, but she's in love."

Garner, meanwhile, is enraged. "Christine was in their home and around their kids, so she finds it ridiculous that he chose to do this," says a source. "But Jen isn't really surprised given all the s--t she's seen him do." For Garner, says the source, this is just another thing to get over. Says the source, "She's just glad she's moving on from the marriage and Ben's antics." US

BOBBI KRISTINA

MURDER MYSTERY

As Brown's family honors her life, Nick Gordon faces charges in her death BY BRAD WITTER

Bobbi Kristina Brown's family prayed for her until the very end. Gathered at her bedside in Peachtree Christian Hospice in Duluth, Georgia, July 26, the 22-year-old's father, Bobby Brown, led her aunt and uncle, Pat and Gary Houston, and others in prayers and hymns. Her late mother, Whitney Houston, was there in spirit. "Whitney's music had been playing on a constant loop," says an insider. "The family all knew it was time to let Bobbi be with her mother." By 8:17 P.M., she had taken her last breath. As the Browns and Houstons noted in a statement to Us that night, "She is finally at peace in the arms of God."

The months leading up to her death were far more tumultuous. The aspiring musician, who had a history of drug use, was found facedown in a bathtub January 31 — almost three years to the day after her mother died in similar circumstances. While Bobbi Kristina remained in a coma, her family, who took her off life support June 24, accused one another of leaking information to the media and even selling a photo from inside her hospice room. Eventually, they banded together against a common enemy: Bobbi Kristina's boyfriend, Nick Gordon, 26, who they accused of aiding her drug use and physically abusing her. All the while, they struggled to make sense of the tragedy. "Krissy was and is an angel," Bobby, 46, told Us

"Nick loved and cared for Krissy deeply," his mom, Michelle (with Gordon in Sanford, FL, July 27), said in a statement.

IN MEMORIAM

The day after her death, loved ones paid respects at Pat's Atlanta home. While 70 friends comforted the grieving aunt, her husband cleaned the yard and accepted delivery from Mexican eatery La Parrilla. "It was an informal gathering," says a source.

Although the Browns weren't invited, Bobby's pal Tyler Perry spent hours at the home. After a funeral in Atlanta (tentatively set for July 30), Perry plans to loan his private jet to fly the singer's body to her final resting place beside her mom in Fairview Cemetery in Westfield, New Jersey.

DUE PROCESS

Once the family says goodbye, they will seek justice. They served Gordon with a $10 million civil lawsuit July 12, alleging that he stole money and inflicted "bodily harm" upon her, including "knocking out a front tooth" and dragging her "by her hair." Now that Bobbi Kristina has died, "the Atlanta district attorney may charge Nick with felony murder," speculates a law-enforcement source.

An initial autopsy did not show an "obvious underlying cause of death," according to the Fulton County medical examiner, but complete results could take weeks. In the meantime, the district attorney is tracking down evidence in a homicide investigation. Says the law-enforcement source, "He wants to make sure it's an airtight case." A source close to Gordon counters that he's busy building his defense: "Nick is looking forward to telling his side." US

Who Will Inherit?

On her 30th birthday, Bobbi Kristina stood to receive the remainder of late mother Whitney's estate, once valued by Forbes at more than $12 million. Now it will pass to her grandmother Cissy Houston, 81, and uncles Michael and Gary. Whitney's will, signed in New Jersey in the early 2000s, also gave a cut to then-husband Bobby Brown. But under state law, says Loyola law professor Jessica A. Levinson, "a gift to an ex-spouse is revoked."

DID KRIS WATCH THE SHOW?

Cait's July 26 premiere held no surprises for its star's former leading lady. Kris Jenner, 59 (left), had already seen a preview copy and, according to a Kardashian source, she gave it a thumbs-down. "Kris thought the show was just so-so and needed more spark," the source says, "but she would never dare to admit that publicly. She knows there would be a backlash."

ARE KIM AND KHLOÉ ANGRY WITH CAIT?

They were. Kim, 34 (right), and Khloé Kardashian, 31, took issue after Caitlyn Jenner slammed their mom, Kris, in Vanity Fair. ("A lot of times, she wasn't very nice," a "mistreated" Caitlyn said of her ex-wife of 23 years.) On I Am Cait, Kim hit back: "You don't have to bash us on your way up." Nearly two months later, she and Khloé are "over it," says a family source. "But they wanted to be very clear they won't take that from Caitlyn."

HOW DID CAITLYN GET THAT BODY?

No longer hiding behind Bruce's sloppy golf gear, Cait struts in a new body-hugging wardrobe. "[Look] at how skinny you are!" stepdaughter Kim gushed on the premiere. Indeed, says the insider, "everyone is amazed by how Caitlyn looks." It doesn't come easy. "She does yoga and Pilates," the insider says of the Olympian. "She knows her body well when it comes to dropping pounds." And for the July 15 ESPY Awards, she took a page from the Kardashian playbook: "She wore a corset!"

I Am Cait Burning Questions!

HAVE ROB, KHLOÉ AND KOURTNEY FINALLY GONE TO SEE CAITLYN?

Caitlyn lamented on the premiere (taped in June) that stepkids Rob, Khloé and Kourtney Kardashian (above, from left) all say they're supportive, but have yet to visit. In the weeks since, "Khloé has seen Caitlyn," confirms the Kardashian source. But Kourtney, 36 — embroiled in a split from boyfriend of nine years Scott Disick, 32 — "has been bogged down in her own drama." And reclusive Rob, 28, "doesn't really get it." Adds another insider: "He can't deal."

IS CANDIS CAYNE HER NEW LOVE?

Previews for the season show Caitlyn's trans friend Candis Cayne (above left) asking, "Would you like to go out on a date?" But multiple sources say that's a general inquiry, not a come-on. "There is absolutely nothing romantic between Candis and Caitlyn," says a source close to the actress. "Candis is only interested in men." (She and ex-boyfriend DJ Marco McDermott split in 2010.) Caitlyn, who only went public about her transition in April, "wants to take this time to focus on herself," says an insider. "Dating is the last thing on her mind."

Cait's Reality Redux

Is nothing original? I Am Cait takes its cues from several other unscripted series. Us investigates.

THE HILLS Reality check: A source says Caitlyn only met the trans "friends" who appear on Cait after they were cast by producers. Sound familiar, Lauren Conrad and Audrina Patridge (right)?

DUCK DYNASTY Like the multi-generational A&E series about Louisiana's conservative Robertson clan, Cait showcases Jenner's extended family, including 88-year-old mom Esther.

RUPAUL'S DRAG RACE That flattering soft-focus lens framing Cait for in-the-moment interviews seems strikingly similar to the one employed on the Logo hit.

SURVIVOR Caitlyn must outwit, outplay and outlast the paparazzi by changing cars — twice! — during a trip.

KEEPING UP WITH THE KARDASHIANS Caitlyn, with rollers in her hair, is taped getting primped by her glam squad . . . just like her daughters and stepdaughters.

"[Haters are] building you up just to knock you down," says Swift. "But they haven't yet."

SWIFT JUSTICE

She's got a long list of ex-lovers — and adversaries. Taylor Swift, 25, plays judge and jury for all who cross her

Apple

THE CRIME Taking a bite out of her bank account. In an open letter June 21, Swift criticized the company's decision to offer users a free three-month trial of its new streaming service. During that period, said the star, it would "not be paying writers, producers or artists."

THE PUNISHMENT Depriving Apple Music of her multiplatinum

Nicki Minaj

THE CRIME Publicly griping that her hit "Anaconda" didn't receive an MTV Video Music Award nod for Video of the Year. After the record-breaking clip — it notched 19.6 million Vevo views in 24 hours — was snubbed July 21, the rapper, 32, tweeted, "Black women influence pop culture so much but are rarely rewarded for it." She added, "If your video celebrates women with very slim bodies, you will be nominated."

THE PUNISHMENT Assuming the missive was directed at her (and her nod for the model-heavy "Bad Blood"), Swift went on the attack, tweeting Minaj, "It's unlike you to pit women against each other."

CASE CLOSED? Less than an hour after her initial tweet, Swift invited Minaj to join her on stage August 30 if she wins. Two days later — with no response from Minaj — she apologized, saying, "I missed the point." On July 24's Good Morning America, Minaj said Swift phoned in a second apology: "We spoke for a long time."

Katy Perry

THE CRIME Stealing Swift's moves. When three dancers defected from Swift's Red tour to join Perry, 30, on the road, Swift saw, well, red.

THE PUNISHMENT Swift relayed the 2013 incident (without naming names) to Rolling Stone last fall, calling it "sabotage." Now, she and Perry have "Bad Blood" — as in, the chart-topper Swift wrote about it.

CASE CLOSED? Hardly. Perry got involved in Swift's spat with Minaj July 22, tweeting it was "ironic" for Swift to talk about pitting women against each other as she "capitalizes on the take down of a woman."

Kanye West

THE CRIME Not letting Swift finish. The rapper, 38, infamously interrupted the pop star's 2009 MTV VMA acceptance speech, declaring Beyoncé was more deserving of the trophy.

THE PUNISHMENT Three apologies in 24 hours (two on his blog, one on The Jay Leno Show) didn't save West from backlash — amid the negativity, he canceled a tour with Lady Gaga — or being blasted by Swift in her song "Innocent." To cope, West says he turned to "God, sex and alcohol."

CASE CLOSED? The duo hugged it out at the 2015 Grammys. After, West said the two were mulling a collaboration: "She wants to get in the studio."

2014 album, 1989. Hours after her announcement, executive Eddy Cue tweeted that the company would change its policy and "always make sure that artists are paid."

CASE CLOSED? Consider this one settled. Four days after her note, Swift announced she was "happily" streaming her disc on the service, thanking Apple for its "change of heart."

Diplo

THE CRIME Making Swift the butt of his joke. Last November, the DJ turned music producer (then dating Swift enemy Perry) tweeted, "Someone should make a kickstarter to get taylor swift a booty."

THE PUNISHMENT Swift dispatched bestie Lorde, 18, to strike back with an equally snarky missive: "should we do something about your tiny penis while we're at it?" But it was Swift's 60 million–plus Twitter followers who scared Diplo, 36, straight. "Taylor Swift fans are really crazy," he told February's GQ. "They threatened to murder me and stuff."

CASE CLOSED? Diplo says he and Swift "squashed" their feud during a run-in at the Grammys in February.

Tina Fey & Amy Poehler

THE CRIME Being comedians. While cohosting the 2013 Golden Globes, Fey, 45, cracked that serial dater Swift (fresh off splits from Harry Styles and Conor Kennedy) should "stay away from" Michael J. Fox's son, Sam, then 23, and take "some 'me time.'" Chimed in Poehler, 43, "Go for it."

THE PUNISHMENT Eternal damnation? That April, Swift swiped back in Vanity Fair by referencing another famous blonde. Said Swift about the incident, "You know, Katie Couric . . . said to me she had heard a quote that she loved . . . that said, 'There's a special place in hell for women who don't help other women.'"

CASE CLOSED? Swift has since shaken off the insult, says a pal: "Part of growing up is learning to take a joke."

JEREMY IN ACTION

Renner's mission: Train hard and travel harder

It's a good thing Jeremy Renner loves making thrillers. "I don't know if I have a Disney face," the 44-year-old actor jokes to Us. The Avengers and Bourne pro does, however, have the action chops to reprise his role as agent William Brandt in Mission: Impossible — Rogue Nation (out July 31). "It's challenging work," the dad of Ava, 2 (with ex-wife Sonni Pacheco), says of the franchise's fifth flick. "But it's a wonderful group of people. . . . And it's a great ride." The California native takes Us along.

Q: How was filming alongside Tom Cruise?
He's got a very positive set energy and he demands excellence from everyone. . . . He's a very giving human being.

Q: The stories of him make it seem like he passes out doughnuts on set every day.
[Laughs.] He's a motivating guy who would never eat doughnuts! . . . He has the makeup team and set crew doing workouts with him. It's a group doing burpees and situps.

Q: Did you ever get homesick while filming in London?
When I had a down day, I was flying out to see my little girl. . . . Over the year, I think I took 40 flights from Heathrow to LAX!

Q: In this installment, you're in the office a lot. Do you wish you had more fight scenes?
Would I have liked to have thrown more punches? Sure. But . . . I was OK not to have to punish my body this time!

"The guy doesn't sleep!" Renner (right) says of costar Cruise.

"My indie work can be very heavy," says Renner. "It's nice to do something light and fun and well-executed."

KYLIE'S SIDEKICK

Jenner's best friend is burning up the airwaves

With one 37-second video, Kim Kardashian created a star. The 2013 clip she posted of a blonde belting Drake's "Hold On, We're Going Home" to the rapper himself and Kanye West got 1 million–plus views — and Pia Mia, 18, a recording contract. "I was proud to show Drake my take on his song and have him say he really liked it," the rhythmic pop singer, who appears frequently in bestie Kylie Jenner's Snapchats, tells Us. Fans have helped propel her first single, "Do It Again" (featuring Chris Brown and Tyga), into Billboard's Hot 100. And views of the song's video top 18 million (and counting)!

ISLAND ADVENTURE Not bad for a girl from Guam who looked up to Celine Dion and Beyoncé. "I studied them on YouTube," says Pia Mia (real name: Pia Mia Perez). "Not many artists perform live in Guam!" Now, her mom, Angela, manages her in L.A., while dad Peter raises siblings Peter and Paloma at home. "The first time I heard 'Do It Again' on the radio, my mom and I were FaceTiming my dad. We had no idea it was going to come on!"

Justin Bieber will guest on her upcoming Interscope Records album.

Christina's Travel Rules

Vacation star Applegate tells Us about getting away with her "No. 1" — daughter Sadie

Four-year-old Sadie regularly wakes her mom at 6:15 A.M. "She'll say, 'I found this feather,'" a jovial Christina Applegate tells Us. "And I'm like, Really? You can't give me till 7 A.M. to start breakfast . . . get you dressed, get your teeth brushed, get the sunscreen on you, pack your snack?" In honor of her movie Vacation (out now), the holiday-deserving actress, 43, shares her R&R mandates. (Not listed: mud baths en route to Walley World.)

OUTSOURCE EVERYTHING

"My favorite vacation is where I can just lie down and have people bring me things. My husband [musician Martyn LeNoble] always says, 'Let's rent a house!' I'm like, 'That requires cooking our food and cleaning dishes, man! Let's get a villa with a staff and just lie there.' He says, 'We'll be poor really soon.'"

FLY IN REINFORCEMENTS

"There's my daughter, my stepdaughter, her boyfriend, my husband and myself. And so that I can lie down, I do bring a nanny. Because I need to lie down!"

MAKE FUN MEMORIES

"The only road trip I ever went on was when I was 7. My mom took me to Tijuana [Mexico, from Los Angeles] and we sang this really weird Carmen Miranda song [from A Date With Judy] the whole ride down there. That's all I remember from the trip!"

HIT THE PAVEMENT

"Growing up, my mom and I would go to Manhattan and that was the best thing for me in the world. Sadie loves it. We don't take cabs — we ride the subway and walk everywhere. I want her to know what the real place is . . . even the stinky parts."

"We had a blast," she says of costar Ed Helms.

Jennifer Weiner's Romance Report

The In Her Shoes author picks her favorite page-turning love stories

For her 12th novel, bestselling author Jennifer Weiner was ready to finally put her heart on the line. "There have been romances in all of my books, but I wanted the challenge to write a true love story," the novelist, 45, tells Us of Who Do You Love (out August 11). The drama centers on Rachel and Andy, who meet as young patients in a Miami hospital and reconnect years later. But Weiner's top priority was endowing her heroine with independence in order to give daughters Lucy, 11, and Phoebe, 6, "that sense of empowerment." She shares the passionate (but never cheesy!) tales that inspire her.

HOW STELLA GOT HER GROOVE BACK
Terry McMillan

"It's an older-woman, younger-man tale. After this, everyone wanted to go to Jamaica to meet their Winston!"

ALMOST PARADISE
Susan Isaacs

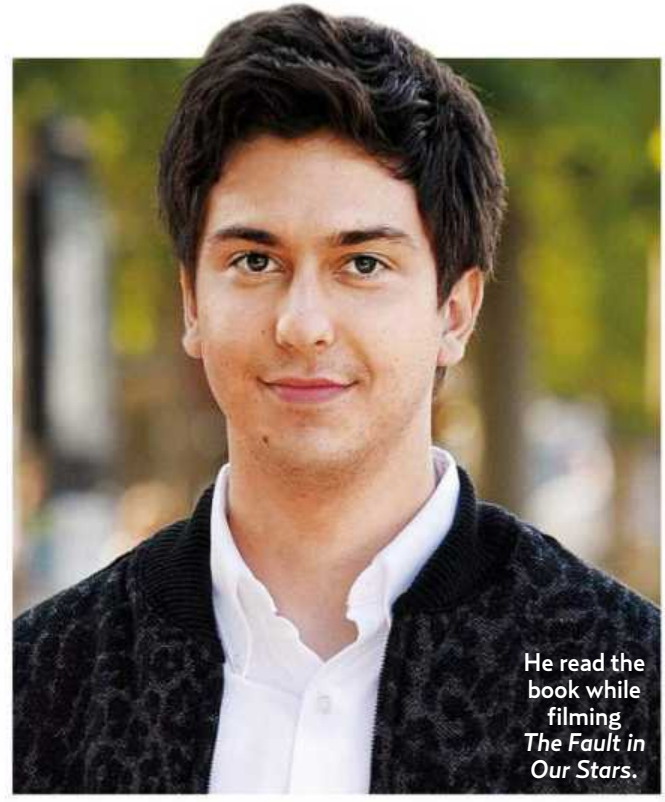

"It's about two people who do not belong together. The end is so wrenching. I reread it every summer."

PRINCESS DAISY
Judith Krantz

"I liked it because the girl is active in her destiny. She didn't just wait for a kiss to awaken her."

"Obviously, there's darkness in any love story," Weiner tells Us of Who Do You Love. ($20, amazon.com)

He read the book while filming The Fault in Our Stars.

PAPER TOWNS' LEADING MAN

In the fold: Nat Wolff tells all about romancing a model and winning hearts

Hungry like the Wolff. Paper Towns' Nat Wolff pounced at the chance to play shy Quentin in the film version of John Green's young-adult hit (out now). "I said yes before John could say 'Towns!'" he jokes. The single L.A. native, 20, fills Us in.

HE DIDN'T KNOW HIS COSTAR "I was the only person in the entire world who hadn't heard of [model] Cara Delevingne. When I saw her, I was like, 'I think you're on a billboard by my apartment. I walked my dog past you.'"

HE WENT METHOD "Off set, we called each other by our characters' names. It sounds really lame, but it was fun."

HE SINGS ON THE SOUNDTRACK "Singing and acting are my favorite things. It's really special when they collide."

HE USED MUSIC TO GET GIRLS "[In high school] I listened to bands they were into, like Coldplay."

"She's very spontaneous and fresh," he says of Delevingne.

KENDALL'S NEW GIG

'It's a Dream Come True!'

As Estée Lauder's latest spokesmodel, Jenner offers lip(stick) service

Keeping up with Kendall Jenner isn't easy. In the past year, the 19-year-old has posed for Vogue, walked for Chanel and fronted a Fendi campaign. Now, the ads for her first cosmetics contract are popping up in print (below right). Jenner invited Us to the set of her promotional video for the brand's new saturated paints, Pure Color Envy Liquid Lip Potions.

Q | How did it feel to be named an Estée Lauder model last year?
It's pretty crazy! I remember seeing my mom use Estée Lauder lipstick when I was kid. It's an honor to be following the other models who have done this. It's kind of like a stamp on your passport, like you're legit.

Q | Your pal Gigi Hadid signed with Maybelline around the same time. Did you celebrate?
When she told me, I freaked out and we were jumping on each other. This business can get lonely, and having some of my best friends in the industry with me is really great.

Q | With four sisters in the business, do you trade beauty tips?
My sisters love glam, but I like to keep it more natural. I just don't have the patience for glam all the time!

Q | Is there a model you look up to?
I was just on Google, stalking Gisele [Bündchen]! . . . She literally takes the best photos.

Q | Any advice for fans who want to follow in your footsteps?
I had terrible acne when I was 15 and that destroyed my self-confidence. I realized it's truly about . . . being the best person you can be.

Ferguson helps Cruise outsmart the enemy in London.

OPENS FRIDAY 7/31

Mission: Impossible Rogue Nation

Choose to accept Tom Cruise's latest thrilling and smart action ride

★★★½

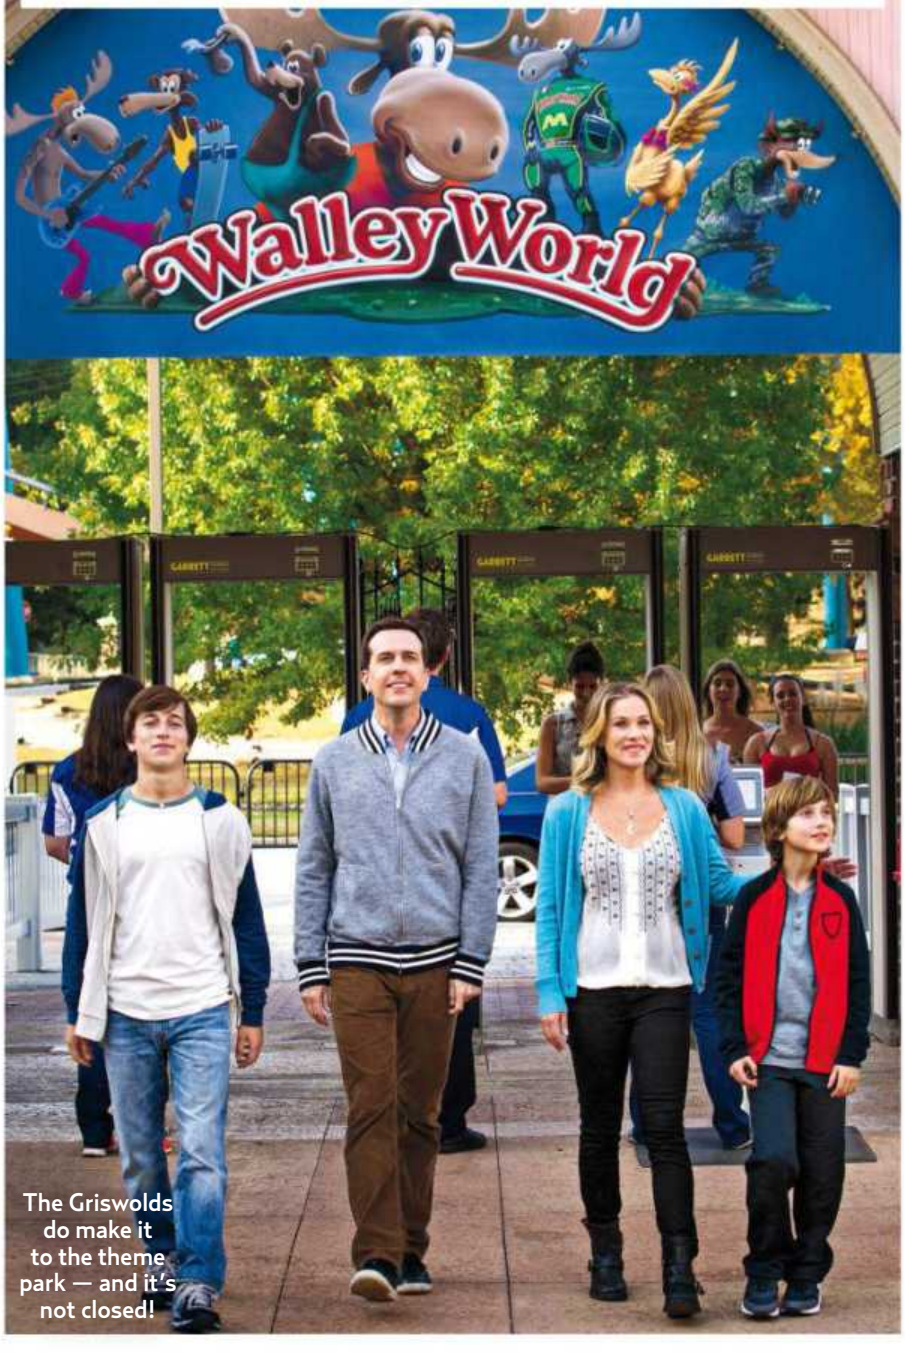

Tom Cruise is now 53. He has no business hanging on the side of an airplane as it ascends. Yet there he is in the opening sequence, as game as ever. His inexhaustible drive helps propel this consistently exciting — if familiar — installment. Cruise's agent Ethan Hunt is now hiding out in Europe, a fugitive from the U.S. government. No matter. He goes rogue tracking down a terrorist cell consisting of renegade former spies. For help, he summons the old gang, including agent Brandt (Jeremy Renner) and wisecracking tech whiz Benji (Simon Pegg). He also seeks the help of a mysterious British agent (alluring newcomer Rebecca Ferguson). If you've seen any of the first four movies — heck, even if you only know that dynamite theme — then you're aware that this group isn't going to sit in a room and talk strategy. They chase, they shoot, they hack, they do that cool neck-snap-with-the-legs move. One harrowing set piece, in which Cruise and a villain go at it on the rafters during a performance at the Vienna opera house, is fantastically executed. It all goes by in a whirl, though, and there's a good chance it will dissipate from memory as quickly as a message that self-destructs. Please, Cruise, light a new fuse soon!

OPENS WEDNESDAY 7/29

Vacation

★★½☆

Early on in this reboot, a now-grown Rusty Griswold (Ed Helms) declares to his family (and to audiences), "This vacation will stand on its own!" And station wagons can fly. Still, a few chuckles can be found on the journey. Decades after the original trip, Rusty decides to drive his wife (Christina Applegate) and their two sons to Walley World. Disasters across America ensue, of course, from a leisurely dip in a waste dump in Arkansas (funny!) to a run-in with a maybe-rapist truck driver in Arizona (ugh, not so much). Many of the sequences will also ring familiar to fans of the 1983 classic — only they're far less amusing. (The father-son sex talk by the pool is a groaner.) Thank goodness for the pit stop at Aunt Audrey's house: She's now married to a studly weatherman, played by Chris Hemsworth. He likes to walk around in his underwear.

The Griswolds do make it to the theme park — and it's not closed!

★★★½

"An understudy — it's like a fancy word for disappointment." Not even kids waiting to see Annie on Broadway are safe from Julie Klausner. In this artfully brash sitcom, she and fellow comic Billy Eichner play outsize, self-absorbed, hilarious versions of themselves. Pop culture junkies will appreciate the flurry of name-dropping, from Julie's obscene Blue Ivy tweet to Billy's auto accident with David Byrne. Genius stuff, People! TUESDAY 8/4

Playing House

Summertime pairs nicely with this breezy, off-kilter comedy. In season 2, divorced Maggie (Lennon Parham) coparents her baby girl with live-in BFF Emma (Parham's real-life pal Jessica St. Clair). A plot involving a family photo shoot is slight, but, thanks to the duo's rapport, also sweet and funny. The payoff is bigger when they sneak into the house of uptight rival Tina (the unsung Lindsay Sloane), taking time to hold forth on Gone Girl and Murder, She Wrote. (USA, 10 P.M.)

Parham and Keegan-Michael Key coo.

ON THIS WEEK

SUNDAY 8/2

BACHELOR IN PARADISE

Clare Crawley and Mikey Tenerelli

More balmy romance! Sixteen sexy also-rans from The Bachelor and The Bachelorette hit the beaches of Sayulita, Mexico, to "find love." Look out: Jade Roper and Ashley Iaconetti both like Jared Haibon! (ABC, 8 P.M.)

TUESDAY 8/4

CMA MUSIC FESTIVAL: COUNTRY'S NIGHT TO ROCK

Underwood

A hot pants–wearing Carrie Underwood wows the crowd with "Blown Away" — just one big moment in this Nashville concert (taped in June). Keith Urban and Lady Antebellum help fill the bill. (ABC, 8 P.M.)

THURSDAY 8/6

THE DAILY SHOW

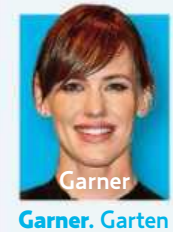

Stewart

No moment of Zen here: After 15 years of brilliantly skewering politicians, pundits and Donald Trump, host Jon Stewart says goodbye to the Daily grind. Trevor Noah takes over September 28. (Comedy Central, 11 P.M.)

SATURDAY 8/8

BAREFOOT IN LOS ANGELES

Garner

In this starry cooking special, chef Ina Garten (a.k.a. the Barefoot Contessa) bakes with birthday girl Jennifer Garner. Garten also breaks bread with Neil Patrick Harris and David Burtka. (Food Network, 11 A.M.)

Franco promises Hill he'll tell him the truth about the murders.

True Story

★★★½

All right, true-crime fans: This riveting and disturbing chiller will satisfy your needs. Michael Finkel (Jonah Hill) is a reporter who forms an unlikely friendship with convict Christian Longo (James Franco). The man was just arrested for killing his wife and three kids — and, as a fugitive, forged a fake identity as writer Michael Finkel. Though Hill and Franco have a storied history together in the Judd Apatow school of comedy, that fraternal chemistry serves them well here. (Amazon and iTunes, $15) MR

Candelabra nabbed 11 Emmys in 2013.

Behind the Candelabra

★★★½

As stormy showbiz romances go, this one's a Category 5. Pianist extraordinaire Liberace (Emmy winner Michael Douglas, unparalleled) and decades-younger Scott Thorson (Matt Damon) make a dazzlingly dark twosome in the standout HBO flick. Covering their 1977–1982 relationship, director Steven Soderbergh chronicles their inevitable spiral (drugs, cheating) with empathy. (Amazon Prime) JG

"My music's about enjoying life," Bryan tells Us.

OUT FRIDAY 8/7

Luke Bryan

Kill the Lights

★★½☆

His party is going strong. As Luke Bryan's fifth album makes clear, he's not about to destroy his buzz — or his popularity. All of his favorite running themes are intact: blasting tunes in the pickup, knocking back shots, watching his lady twirl in the taillights. Despite one or two surprises (e.g., the title track's disco groove), nothing screams "life-changing." But no worries: The man's got stadiums to fill. (Capitol)

MY TOP CLASSIC RAP TRACKS!

Big Sean, 27 — now on tour promoting his disc Dark Sky Paradise — goes old-school

I GOT A STORY TO TELL / NOTORIOUS B.I.G.
"Makes me think of laughing with my homies over crazy situations."

NUTHIN' BUT A "G" THANG / DR. DRE
"This one's embedded in my head! I still know it, word for word."

I GET AROUND / 2PAC
"It reminds me of summer, the pool and barbecues every time I hear it."

IT WAS A GOOD DAY / ICE CUBE
"He painted the picture of a perfect day in L.A. The song is timeless."

GOOD LIFE / KANYE WEST
"I was there in the studio to watch Kanye create this feel-good classic!"
